

MOVE TO FREE TOLL BRIDGE

Plan to Erect New Bridge to Be Presented to City Council--Local Committee to Meet City Council.

The Herald's slogan, "Boost Portsmouth by Freeing the Toll Bridge," has been taken up by a number of local citizens and a new plan is to be worked out.

Dr. Fred S. Towle has manifested an active interest in the situation. Dr. Towle and other interested citizens have announced their intention of presenting the matter to city council and to call upon that body to designate a committee to investigate the cost of spanning the Piscataqua river between this city and Kittery, Me., with a bridge upon which toll collections shall not stand as a barrier to summer tourists or to the permanent residents who make Portsmouth the seat of their business activities.

Dr. Towle said today that Attorney John W. Kelley and Harry B. Youtan, who was once an advocate of the abolition of tolls before the New Hampshire legislature, are with him manifesting a profound interest in the situation. Scores of prominent business and professional men have promised their assistance. While the plan have not matured, Dr. Towle says that his purpose is to have the council appoint a committee to investigate the cost of spanning the river and to then determine a means of financing the proposition.

That point of the river between Church hill, off Bow street and Badger's Island, is considered by him to be the most likely spot for a new bridge, because it is the narrowest spot in the river. The place is not generally accepted because of the interference it would present to shipping on the river. But the doctor says that any point that would serve the purpose would be satisfactory to him.

He recommends that the committee should confer with prominent structural firms of the country with the view of obtaining plans, specifications and estimates for the construction of the bridge. If the cost were found not to be prohibitive the city would contribute its proportion of the expense, according to Dr. Towle, and the remainder of the expense would be borne equally by the town of Kittery, by Rockingham county, New Hampshire, York county, Maine, and the states of New Hampshire and Maine.

Tolls, according to him, have proved an insurmountable barrier to the business of Portsmouth. Residents of Kittery, York, Elliot and the surrounding towns of York county, who naturally would trade in this city, have diverted their business to other cities which may be reached without the expenditure of fees for toll. Summer people are said to have established a nation-wide cry against the barrier of tolls that is raised about this city.

Portsmouth bridge is now controlled by the Boston & Maine railroad. This principal avenue of traffic between Maine and New Hampshire cannot be maintained according to the railroad, if tolls are not collected to provide for its upkeep. The road has for several years contemplated the building of a new bridge across the river.

PICKPOCKETS AT WORK

Relieve Ira Hanscom of His Money on Market Street.

Ira Hanscom, a resident of Hanover street, reported to the police on Saturday night that pickpockets relieved him of his money on Market street, near the corner of Ladd street. ... the time he said his money went he was standing in a crowd listening to the band concert and says that two men pulled off the trick. He pushed in the crowd that was moving about while one got his change amounting to $5.00. Mr. Hanscom missed the money as the two men started toward the ferry landing. He ran after the crooks, but they were fast men on their feet and got out of sight in quick time.

IT LOOKS LIKE MURDER

Soldier's Body Found on Flats--Sensational Attempt to Rescue Drowning Man at New-castle Bridge.

The body of Private Frank Riorden U. S. A., attached to the 156th Company Coast Artillery stationed at Fort Constitution, was found in the flats off New Castle avenue, shortly before seven o'clock Sunday morning by Charles E. Grover of 28 South street.

Riorden was drowned and he, either fell or was pushed off the New Castle bridge shortly after two o'clock Sunday morning, and drifted on the incoming tide up to where it was found at low water. The police and County authorities are investigating the case and now have two men locked up at Fort Constitution and four civilians of this city who were in the man's company, have been questioned.

Mr. Grover was on his way to New Castle bridge Sunday morning to fish for smelts when he saw the body of the soldier on the flats, part of the body in the water. He was lying face down with his feet and arms extended.

The police and Medical referee, Dr. W. D. Walker were called and after an examination he turned the body over to Undertaker G. W. Hann. There was only one bruise on the body that a black eye and his clothes did not show any signs of a violent struggle.

County Solicitor Goplin with Sheriff Spinney, Deputy Shaw and the local police began an investigation and found that there had been a row between Riorden and others on Mury street when there was some trouble started and it was patched up and all of the men walked down on the bridge and remained there talking for some time. Shortly after two o'clock David Urech and his family at the toll bridge were awakened by the cries of help coming from the bridge and Mr. Urech hastily grabbed a few clothes and ran out on the bridge. The cries were then located in the water and rapidly growing fainter. He met several men who said that somebody had fallen overboard, and asked if there was a boat handy. Major Urech got a boat launched in short order and rowed around near the bridge, but at this time the cries had stopped and the man had sunk. On his return to the bridge he found that there were six men left, one a soldier in uniform, was on the landing near the old Aquarium with his shoes and stockings off. He had been drinking and said that he had started to jump over after the man drowned. At that time nobody appeared to know who the drowned man was. After a while the soldier and another who proved to be a soldier in civilian clothes started for the fort and the others came up New Castle avenue.

After the men had left Major Urech went to close up his shop from where he had taken his car and while he was doing this Mrs. Urech and one of the young ladies in the house, saw a man come out from one side of the bridge and walk rapidly up New Castle avenue. He was not one of the party of men who were on the bridge during the commotion and Major Urech is at loss to know where he came from unless he had been hiding on a small float on the right hand side of the bridge.

The county officials with Deputy Marshal Hurley found that the soldiers who were with Riorden on the bridge, were Privates Frederick and Meredith, and also that three of the men in the party were Joseph Moynihan, John Buzzele and Samuel Pilgrin of this city.

The story told by the three local young men is that they walked down street with Riorden, Meredith and Frederick, the last two being ball players and when at the South Mill bridge, Riorden who had been drinking made a rush at Moynihan and the latter pushed him aside and he fell down. They picked him up and after a time they started down Mury street. There was more or less argument on the way down and they continued down to the first New Castle bridge and stood talking for some time. Riorden and Meredith after a time started to walk home and the others including Frederick start-

BUFFALO, Aug. 19.—On the last leg of his journey, from Hot Springs, Ark., Sam Schepps, wanted by Dist. Atty. Charles S. Whitman as the remaining material witness concerned in the Rosenthal murder, left Buffalo for New York at 9:45 o'clock tonight on a train due at Albany at 4:40 o'clock this morning.

It was believed here last night that the Schepps party will meet Dist. Atty. Charles S. Whitman, who is returning from Manchester, Vt., at Albany, in the morning, and that the gambler's much wanted story may be told to the district attorney before they reach New York.

Except for a brief walk for exercise Schepps remained in his hotel all day, and resolutely declined to discuss anything pertaining to the death of Rosenthal or the graft surrounding it. On other subjects he was talkative, but when the name of Becker or Rosenthal was mentioned he waved a deprecatory hand and explained that any statement concerning the case "would be unfair to his counsel and to Dist. Atty. Whitman."

Bernard J. Sandler, counsel for Schepps, spent the afternoon at Niagara Falls. He has seen little of his client in private and is concerned chiefly in

P. C. U. DEFEAT SLUGGERS IN CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES

Made a Great Rally in Eighth and Score Eleven Runs--Pilgrims of Boston Shut Out Rye Beach in a Fast Game--Other Games.

The P. C. U. before the largest crowd which has ever graced the play grounds for a ball game, defeated the Sluggers in the second game for the championship of the New Hampshire State League, so that a third game will be necessary, and it will probably be played in this city on Saturday next, if the grounds can be secured.

The game was some what of a surprise, the locals having a batting streak in the eighth when they walloped Abrams for ten hits and scored eleven runs. The entire inning was more like batting practice than anything else everybody coming up and walloping the first ball pitched for various distances. These hits came lined with a bad error by Hawkins in right field put the game on ice. This was the first time however that the locals looked anywhere near like winners, for the Sluggers hammered Dandeneau at will and batted Kabalka who took his place in the fifth inning for six hits. At the beginning of the locals' batting streak the visitors had a lead of four runs.

Abrams pitched a good game for the Sluggers up to the eighth, and it was not until after eleven runs had been made was he relieved by Strong who closed the inning without any scoring. Abrams got good support from his team with the exception of Hawkins in right who allowed two balls to go through him and these two bad error cost six or seven runs.

The P. C. U. played a fine fielding game, Kincaid being the special star of the game. He batted well all through the game getting three hits before the eighth and two in this inning and scored five runs. He had thirteen outs to his credit and many of them were fine stops and catches, and he was all over the field when it came to backing up a play at one time covered third for a throw in from left field. Hoffman also played a fine game at second, making some very fine stops and one or two catches that were very classy. Morris came in to third base after Kabalka went into the box and he played the position in great shape, making two force outs at second of short hit balls that were very clever. Kabalka played a good game before he went into the box and also fielded well while there.

For the visitors McCarthy caught a very fine game and he made one or two fine catches of hard foul balls and threw well. Martell at short and Strong at second played fine ball as did Cook who covered the initial bag and Green in center field.

The P. C. U. scored one run in the first, when Kincaid beat out a short ground ball to short, he went to second on a passed ball and scored on a single by Frederick. They were blanked for the next three innings, but one man reaching first. They started a rally in the fifth when Morris singled but was forced at second on T. Lynskey's grounder to short, Lynskey stole second, Strong getting the throw in plenty of time, but he was declared safe. W. Lynskey filed to Martell and Tom advanced on a short passed ball, and he scored on Dandeneau's single. Kincaid singled and Hughes followed with one to right and Hawkins allowed the ball to roll through his legs and Dandeneau and Kincaid scored. They got two more rallies in the seventh. Dandeneau started something with a hit, and Kincaid hit the next one over for a home run to left field, the ball being tangled up in an automobile. Hughes singled and went to second, when Reardon fumbled the ball, Hoffman filed to right, Frederick struck out, Kabalka was hit and Hughes went to third, and he was allowed to remain the base although the visitors rightly claimed he could not advance on a dead ball. Morris filed the bases with a pass but Lynskey was thrown out by Strong, Abrams breaking the sharp hit ball.

Then came the eighth, Walter Lynskey started the trouble with a single, he went to second when Strong dropped a perfect throw in time to get him feet off the base, Dandeneau walked and Kincaid singled filling the bases. Hughes filed out to center and Hoffman hit for a single over second, and Hawkins who was all in allowed the ball to roll right through his legs and four runs scored. Frederick singled, Kabalka hits a long ball to center that would have been good for a home run, but it struck an automobile and was held at third, then everybody hit the ball at will and after eleven runs had been scored on hits and with three errors counting materially, Abrams went to second and Strong went in to pitch and retired the side.

The visitors scored three runs in the third when after Cook had fanned, Morrison singled Green followed with another then Strong hit another and this coupled with a wild heave by Hoffman netted three runs. They added four more in the fifth, after Green had been retired on a ground ball to Dandeneau, Strong was safe on Kabalka's error, McCarthy hit for two bases and scored. Strong, Hawkins singled and scored. Carthy went home. At this point Dandeneau was pulled out and Kabalka went in the box. Reardon hit to Kabalka who retired Hawkins at third, Martell singled and Abrams singled, scoring Reardon and Martell. They were blanked in the seventh and in the eighth they put on three more, Cook getting a pass, but being retired at second on sharp fielding by Morris. Morrison was retired at second on another piece of sharp fielding and with two men out Strong hit for two bases, McCarthy hit for two more bases and Hawkins singled scoring three runs. This gave the Sluggers a lead of four runs, but in their half the P. C. U. did the trick.

The Pilgrims of Boston, minus Charlie Langan, Bob Haydock and "Dumie" Dexter shut out Rye Beach Saturday afternoon 5 to 0 on the Farago grounds in the big game of the season.

For the visitors, Trafford Hicks pitched. Though hit freely he was strong in the pinches. He received great support from Bob Clifford, while Ray Skilton, "Donor" Minot and Lockwood Hill also played well for the winners.

Jack Parker pitched the first inning because the Gile brothers had not arrived being in a motor boat accident at York Harbor. They arrived when Parker had retired the side, after singling, sprained his right ankle and is probably out of the game for the rest of the season.

Glen Gile weakened in the ninth, four runs being scored by the visitors. The outfielding of Meigs was the feature for the losers. He made four pretty catches two of which were of his sensational order.

Parker and Sam White, both of Princeton, Greely of Yale and Baker of Harvard also distinguished themselves for the losers.

Rye Beach is baseball crazy and four games have been arranged for next week, and no doubt some good baseball will be witnessed.

The Game in Detail.

First Inning.

Parker fanned, "Dezzie" Wadsworth on three pitched balls, Siebert, singled to center and went to second on Clifford's sacrifice. Parker to White. Skilton filed to Greely.

Dick Gile singled between third and short, went to second on Shepley's sacrifice, Hicks retiring the batter unassisted. Gile turned his ankle off second, and was out, Clifford to Simmons.

Second Inning.

The visitor went out in order. Minot being robbed of a triple by Meigs, who made a fine running catch. Meigs also captured Simon's fly, while Pierce struck out.

White went out on a fast play, Simmons to Minot. Hutchinson singled over second. Baker hit a high foul fly of which Clifford made a great catch. Hutchinson advancing to second. Clem Gile filed to Pierce.

Third Inning.

Hicks fanned, Lockwood Hill out Gile to White. Wadsworth filed to Baker.

Murray Hill filed to Skilton, Greely singled over third and went around to third on Pierce's over throw to second. Meigs filed to Pierce and Shepley out, Hicks to Minot.

Fourth Inning.

Siebert filed to Hutchinson, Clifford to Meigs, Skilton to White.

Parker filed to Siebert. White to Skilton. Hutchinson reached first, when Minot dropped Simon's throw. Baker out Hicks to Minot.

Fifth Inning.

Minot singled past Hutchinson, reached second, when Hutchinson muffed Parker's throw. Simmons walked. Pierce fanned. Hicks fouled to Parker. Lockwood Hill singled to center, scoring Minot. Hill stole second, but was left on base, when Wadsworth struck out.

Clem Gile singled, went to second on Murray Hill's out, Hicks to Minot. Greely and Meigs struck out.

Score, Pilgrims 1, Rye Beach 0.

Sixth Inning.

Siebert filed to White, Clifford doubled to right center, went to third on Skilton's sacrifice fly to Greely. White made a star catch of Minot's liner.

Shepley, Parker and White all singled, filling the bases. Hicks showed his ability, fanning Hutchinson and forcing Baker to hit to him getting Shepley at the plate and Clifford doubling Baker at first.

Seventh Inning.

Stations fouled to Murray Hill, Pierce singled, Hicks filed to Meigs, Pierce stole second, but got caught between second and third. It took Gile, Hill, Hutchinson, Shepley and Greely to run him down, Shepley finally getting the put out.

Clem Gile out, Wadsworth to Minot. Murray Hill was safe on Minot's error, Greely filed to Lockwood Hill and Meigs to Hicks.

Eighth Inning.

Lockwood Hill filed to Parker, Wadsworth struck out, Siebert out, Murray Hill to White.

Shepley went out Simmons to Minot, Parker safe on Minot's fumble, went to second on Hicks' wild pitch. White beat out an infield hit to Simmons, and stole second. Hutchinson lined to Wadsworth, who made what looked to the spectators like a pretty pick-up, but umpire Champlin ruled it a catch and White was doubled at second. If the play had been a pick-up, Wadsworth would not have had a possible chance to get Parker at the plate.

Ninth Inning.

Clifford out Gile to White, Skilton doubled and went to third on Parker's passed ball. Minot walked, Simmons singled, scoring Clifford, Pierce filed to Baker advancing Minot to third and Simmons to second. Both scored and Simmons went to second, both scored on Hicks' double, who in turn scored on Lockwood Hill's two bagger, Wadsworth out Murray Hill to White.

Baker singled, reached second when Wadsworth muffed Simmons' throw of Gile's fielder's choice. Murray Hill hit to Simmons and Baker was forced out Simmons to Siebert, Greely filed to Lockwood Hill, and Gould, who was batting for Meigs, filed to Skilton ending the game.

An Exchange says where is the old-fashioned pessimist who quit work during the presidential year? There is only one in this city at the present time.

The Rochester Post-Express says in the concluding paragraph of its "confession of faith," Col. Roosevelt uses the pronoun "I" thirty-six times and he refers to the Lord only once, although he claims to be fighting for Him. That reminds us of the story of Whistler, the artist. Somebody said to Whistler that there were only two great artists, Whistler and Velasquez. "Why drag in Velasquez?" asked Whistler.

The Buffalo Evening News says the eminent William Flinn holds that he can be two opposing parties at once, that is, Republican and Washington, for William has a corporation in his state as the Washington party. He is republican to run state politics and Bull Moose, alias Washington, to run the national end. It is needless to add that the boss Bull Moose thinks that double scheme of duplicity is a noble one.

The Brooklyn Citizen says a morning paper sums up the situation in Nicaragua today in headlines stating that peace negotiations have failed; Mena, a "general," of course, demands reinstatement as war minister and other cabinet changes; wants his opponent Chamorro exiled, and his conditions being rejected, resumption of the bombardment of Managua is expected, as the rebels are gaining ground. And that's what they style a republic down there!

The Milwaukee Free Press remarks for our part, Mr. Roosevelt's socialism is far less hostile than his proposal, in connection with the trust plan, to set up a government of men instead of a government of laws. For that is just what his federal commission and its administrative control amounts to. Not only would Mr. Roosevelt have this commission immune from review of its acts by the courts, he would actually give it authority to shelter monopoly in defiance of the Sherman act.

And that is government by men, not by laws.

Current Opinion

Peace and Peace.

The editor of the Courier has received a letter from a man in Tacoma, Washington, commenting on the characterization recently given to a Taft Progressive, as one who believes in universal peace. The correspondent goes on to rehearse the old statement that Roosevelt is a great, practical peace-maker, and once received the Nobel prize. He apparently is eminently unconscious of the fact that Roosevelt later denounced as either a knave or a fool anybody who attended a banquet held in the interests of international arbitration and exerted his great influence against the definite United States senate and which were so associated by that body as to have little of their original form left.

The peace views of the editor of the Courier were also made light of by the Washington, D. C. Times, in its answer to our definition of a Taft Progressive. As this reply was in a facetious vein and contained little serious argument, we have not hitherto replied to it. But in commenting on the "Peace" question, the Times averred that what the people want is "Peace" rather than "Peace."

Now, we are willing to admit that the question of the high cost of living is one of the most vital of all the great problems that confront us today. But did you ever stop to think, dear brother, of the Times, of you, kind readers of the Courier, of the connection between the high cost of living and the cost of the dangers of war that constantly threaten the nations of the world? If not, just do so for a brief moment.

The humanitarian considerations have been those chiefly urged in this matter of universal peace. And they are the greatest and weightiest, beyond question. But the financial results involved are so stupendous that very few have any conception of them. What, think you, has had any more to do with this fearful high cost of living all over the world than the millions upon millions, the billions in fact, that are spent annually in preparation for this war game, to say nothing of the able-bodied men who are thus withdrawn from all productive labor and become mere parasites supported by the rest of society? In this country, we are the best situated of any people in the world, both because of our small standing army and because of our great resources. But the building of two dreadnoughts every year at a cost of a score of million dollars each, ships that in ten years or less will be relegated to the junk heap, is something even for the United States. The manning of all these ships, the cost of ammunition for target practice and all the other expenses of our navy are almost beyond belief to those who have not investigated the subject. It has been figured out, that with what the preparation for war costs this country every year, a magnificent wide boulevard could be constructed from the Atlantic to the Pacific. And all this money is wasted absolutely.

Indeed, gentlemen, if we had universal peace we should all have many more peace, more meat, more food and clothing of all kinds, for the men and the money that are now wasted on fruitless work would then be cultivating the soil or working in the factories.

You may laugh at the advocates of universal peace as idealists, if you like. Mankind once settled their personal disputes by the fist or other form of personal combat. Doubtless, there were those who looked on the establishment of courts of justice as ridiculous once on a time. But the race has advanced long since to the point where might does not always make right within one's own country, at least not physical might. Our disputes are settled in courts of law and society is organized to see that justice is done to all men.

Some day, and we believe in the not far distant future, international differences will likewise be adjusted by international courts of law. People will look back on the days when nations killed men by the hundreds of thousands, to establish their contentions as almost impossible of belief. And in that day, the name of President Taft, who really took the first advanced step towards this end

BY
REV. HERBERT A. JUMP,
Of First Cong. Church, Oakland, Cal.

RESOLVED, That I shall accept these days of change as a golden gift and remember in a ceaseless mood of gratitude the Kind One by whose providence they come.

Resolved, That these days shall restore to me my own soul for in the turmoil of much doing I have almost forgotten his teachings. I have robbed him of his spiritual rights, I have starved many of his higher hungers.

Resolved, That I shall taste again the delicious privileges of Home; and with Love attending and Childhood instructing, I shall learn more deeply concerning the Fatherhood in Heaven, by fulfilling more worthily a fatherhood upon earth.

Resolved, That the season be made a festival of Friendship, when high themes and merry quips shall divide the hours of talk, and when sweet and rapturous silence shall puncture into a new meaning the easy flow of conversation.

Resolved, That I shall summon Play as my armor-bearer to gird me for the battle of Work looking beyond; that I shall invoke Slumber to atone for many a night defrauded of its dues; that I shall enthrone Idleness as the king of my hours and let him issue omnipotent commands to all my weary being.

Resolved, That no giddy mist exhaled from the pages of a summer novel or from hours of insipid flattery shall blind my vision to the poignant grace of the lake, the tree, the flower, the imperative dignity of the mountain-range; the magnificent and vocal cliff; protesting against the ocean; the penetrating exquisiteness of the stars when the moon for a while has hidden her face; and the alluring changefulness of the landscape where'er clouds trail their patient shadows.

Resolved, That I shall remain mindful, ever tenderly mindful, of the many laborers whose uninterrupted ministry makes possible my days of relaxation; and that I shall accept the challenge of their fidelity by so utilizing my release from the Task as to enhance immeasurably my ability in the Task when again the daily and nightly duty call sounds.

Resolved, That, though the familiar routine be broken, my days and deeds and words shall still pour helpfulness into society somewhere; and that whoever meets me may find his heart lightened for the pilgrimage by a new assurance that humanity is gentle and that God's spirit is still walking, however, faltering, through the world on humble human feet.

International arbitration, will have its place in history as one of the greatest and most far-sighted statements of his generation.—Rochester Courier.

Mr. Hill's Forecast.

Chairman Hill's forecast too much. True, it is a chairman's business to claim. He must put a good face on things. He must hearten his side and keep it heartened. The rank and file must be made to believe that there is victory ahead as a reward for hard and unrelenting labor.

But there is an art about climbing. To be effective, it must be done in season and in reason.

Mr. Hill's claim which appears today offends in both particulars. It is out of season—decidedly premature. Things are just beginning to move and as our national things are big things there is no falling at this time where anybody is "out." To forecast the November result is to raise a question as to one's seriousness or judgment.

The claim is out of season. It gives nothing to the progressives, and but little to the democrats. Now, undoubtedly, there is a fight on. Never before have the republicans been in so bad a shape at the beginning of a presidential campaign, and not twenty years have the democrats been in such high feather. It borders on the absurd, therefore, to represent the race as a walk-over for Mr. Taft. It is anything else.

There seems good right to expect that in six or eight weeks a change will show

A VACATION PLATFORM

In the aspect of the general situation, Mr. Roosevelt's pretensions should suffer under a period of stumpy discussion. They cannot be kept in their present inflated position. And Mr. Wilson is booked for a grilling experience as an opinion he has expressed as an author, and his probable course of action if elected President.

From several causes, therefore, Mr. Taft may "look better" in early October than he looks today. His friends believe that conservative sentiment in both capitalist and labor circles will in the end fix upon him as the best man in the race. If it does, and appropriate action accompanies the crystallization of such sentiment, Mr. Taft's prospects should improve considerably. For although the word conservative has been misapplied an amount of favor for some time, it still spells a policy under which business in the main is conducted. Mr. Wilson's acceptance of the Baltimore nomination rings with conservatism.

Mr. Hill is probably right in the belief that Mr. Roosevelt will draw from both the old parties. But certainly not in numbers from the democratic party. For he must be intense in his radicalism indeed who leaves the democratic party at this time to go experimenting with such a man as Theodore Roosevelt, with his bag of traps and tricks.—Washington Star.

No Compromise

The President's veto of the legislative bill, chiefly because it carries a provision limiting the departmental tenure in Washington to seven years, put the matter before Congress in a definite shape. The failure in the House of a motion to pass the bill over the veto stops the effect to place the seven-year clause on the statute books, and the only remaining course is to refrain the measure in a manner to meet the President's objections. Save for the Commerce Court item, to which the President likewise objects in the course of his veto, there is a clear-cut and distinct issue here. Shall the merit principle remain in force, or shall the departmental tenure here in Washington be reduced to the point at which spoils and political patronage will be possible, and from which further developments toward a complete return to the old office-grabbing, place-holding, influence-governing system of administration will be not only possible but probable.

There can be no safe compromise in this matter. Either the seven-year tenure clause remains in the bill or it is stricken out. In the conference between the two houses a so-called compromise was reached by the conference, the Senate receding from its absolute disagreement and accepting a limited-term provision with the term extended from four to seven years. There was no difference in principle between the two terms. The motive behind the move was not changed and that motive, it is never to be forgotten was for a clerical term exactly coincidental with the presidential term, a precise adjustment to the requirements of the political spoilsman.

If the merit principle is to be preserved, the legislative bill must be passed in a new form, leaving the tenure of the clerks exactly as it stands today, without definite limit. Let the matter rest squarely upon the issue of limit or no limit. The friends of the merit system will do well to insist upon this test at every stage, to press firmly home, this proposition, that any limitation of the term means spoils, and that the only safe way is to revert to the existing law as affording the best possible guarantee against the prostitution of the police office a few days longer in order to assess as particular pastures for the favored few. Congress can afford to remain in session a few days longer in order to assure this result. If the true friends of the merit principle are in earnest in their desire to prevent the admission of the clerical wedge that, once set, will surely in a short time split the civil service wide open for the favorites of party leaders.—Washington Star.

Many are watching his march in the fray. Who look for advantage if things go his way. He must toll and stand guard over your hopes and your fears, And you think you've done well if you give him three cheers!—Washington Star.

Women Who Will Have Prominent Positions In The National Political Campaign This Fall.

Photos of Mrs. Harriman and Miss Carpenter by American Press Association.

The Republican, Democratic and Progressive parties all have recognized the value of women as vote getters, and the three will compete in efforts to interest the women to get out and work hard for their respective candidates in the national campaign this fall. Women are to be in authority at the various headquarters, and they will have much to say regarding the campaign. Miss Helen Varick Boswell is to have charge of the bureau for women's work at Republican headquarters. Mrs. J. Borden Harriman heads the women's organization that is to work for the election of Wilson and Marshall. Miss Alice Carpenter is woman organizer for the Progressive party. Miss Boswell and Miss Carpenter have been active in woman suffrage work and will make their appeal to women as suffragists. The tariff and the high cost of living are to be the points in Mrs. Harriman's campaign.

STATE OFFICE HOLDERS

Another Conference Held at Concord on Saturday.

The Manchester Union, in a Concord dispatch, refers to a conference of so-called progressives at Riverside Inn, Portsmouth. Where is it? The dispatch is as follows:

"A meeting of the leading members of the New Hampshire Progressive Republicans, who are better known as 'Bill Moorsers,' or 'Roosevelters,' was held in this city at the office of James W. Renfrew, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. At the conclusion of the session, Judge Renfrew stated that the meeting was in no sense formal, but merely an informal conference, wholly inconclusive as regards results. The conference of Saturday was a continuation of that one held recently at Riverside Inn in Portsmouth and was attended by Judge Renfrew, William Savage of Manchester, Frank W. Musgrave of Hanover, Winston Churchill and George Rublee of Cornish, George A. Carpenter of Fallowfield, Frank Baker of Suncook, Willis G. Bixton of Boscawen and Harold H. Blake of Concord. A meeting of the governor and council at the state house prevented the attendance of the former during the early hours of the conference, which lasted practically all of the afternoon.

"An impression was prevalent in the city that those 'Bill Moorsers' in conference Saturday intended to nominate candidates for the various state offices from the governor down through the entire list. Such action, if intended, was postponed until a later date, perhaps at the suggestion of National Committeeman Savage, who said Saturday noon that there was no hurry about making preliminary nominations, as nominations by petition do not have to be filed until October."

BENEFIT FOR NAVY AID

Local Navy People Give Benefit at Navy Yard.

Prominent society leaders of this city combined their efforts yesterday with naval officers and the female contingent of the navy yard in a benefit entertainment for the Portsmouth branch of the Navy League. The entertainment consisted of the presentation of a comedy drama written by Miss Priscilla Heffenger of this city and of a dance in the armory of the yard. The league which has headquarters at Washington and branches at the various naval stations provides funds for the widows and children of deceased naval officers.

The comedy drama was originally written for the benefit of the Equal Suffrage League, but is not based on the suffrage cause. Among the young people who acted the parts are Priscilla Heffenger, Constance Heffenger, Emily Stagers, and Ruth Loughton.

The drama was presented yesterday afternoon on the green west of the administration at the navy yard. Following the drama dancing was conducted in the naval armory. Music for the dancing was provided by the naval orchestra. Captain Charles C. Rogers U. S. N., commandant of the navy yard was officially in charge of the arrangements.

The benefit was actively handled by one of his aids, Lieut. Commander, James C. Kress U. S. N.

There was a large attendance and also a large sum of money made.

What Is Happening In the Harbor Town.

Frank Madden of Somerville, Mass., a former resident of this town, was the guest over Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Frisbee, on Janssbrook Island.

Miss Gussie Phillips is enjoying a vacation from her duties in Fox's store in Portsmouth.

Sailed, steam yacht "Cornelia" of New York, F. S. Smithers, owner, for Marblehead.

Arrived, steam yacht "Watsons" of Philadelphia, Randal Morgan, owner, cruising.

Arrived, schooner "Van Allen Brough-ton," from Baltimore; schooner "Inez" Bangor for Boston; schooner "Oris Miller" (British) Stonington, Me., for Salem; schooner "Baker Palmer" Coal Port.

The monument in memory of Rev. John Tuck, the first minister at the Isles of Shoals, will be placed in position at the islands during the present week. A descendant, Edward Tuck of Paris, France, erects this tribute to his ancestor, but the result is largely owing to the antiquarian interest and increasing activity in all such matters of Oliver L. Frisbee, who in this as in many others in this vicinity, has been untiring in his efforts to secure suitable memorials to the early settlers.

The next meeting of the Good Luck Whist club will be held at the home of Mrs. Ernest Tabey on Wednesday afternoon.

The British schooner "Otis Miller" of Dorchester, N. B., came into port Saturday evening, loaded with lumber, and reported as being bound from Stonington, Me., for Salem, Mass. There was apparently a glaring violation of our navigation laws, which sternly forbid all foreign owned vessels from engaging in commerce between domestic ports. Violations of grave international complications, with it once arose on the water.

As possible for with the budding Canadian navy looting in the harbor, though it is hasten to say, in the latter event, all evidently proceeded that the guardians of the ports would do their duty to a man. The Herald correspondent is, however, happy to ally all apprehension over the matter. The "Otis Miller" loaded her cargo in Nova Scotia, but ran ashore on a ledge off Deer Isle, Me., and fled with water. She then discharged her cargo at Stonington, was towed to Rock-land for repairs, released her cargo at Rockland, and proceeded for Salem. Under these circumstances, there seems to be no reason why peace and quietness should not again prevail in our midst.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Phillips of Andover, Mass., passed Sunday with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Phillips.

Mr. and Mrs. James Coleman returned from their wedding tour on Saturday.

Mr. Fred Kemp of Ogunquit visited friends in town Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Frisbee passed Sunday at Alton Bay, N. H.

The death of Hon. H. M. Heath of Augusta, Me., on Sunday will be learned with deep regret by hosts of friends in this city and Kittery.

CRAZY MARINE TRIES TO JUMP FROM BRIDGE

A marine who appears to have been out of his head, created some excitement on Portsmouth bridge Saturday night by trying to jump into the river.

The man had been acting queerly for some time during the evening and some of his comrades were keeping track of him. They followed him to the bridge and last track of him, but finally found him standing up to his waist in water in the timber dock.

While they were waiting he got away and ran out on the bridge and they caught him just as he was climbing the railing to plunge into the river, which would have resulted in sure death.

He was held until the guard arrived and he was then taken to the hospital.

Holmes Arrested Again for Violating Auto Speed Law.

Motorcycle Officer Frank W. Jones, while patrolling the Dover Point road at about 6 o'clock last night, stopped Charles Holmes of Portsmouth who was driving his automobile at the rate of about thirty-five miles an hour in violation of the speed law. Officer Jones notified Mr. Holmes to appear in police court this morning to answer to the charge of violating the automobile speed law. Later in the evening Mr. Holmes came here to settle up the matter. The state was not ready to go on with the case at that time so Judge Nason ordered Holmes to furnish a personal bond of $25.00 for his appearance in court this morning.

In police court this morning, Judge Nason presiding, Holmes pleaded not guilty. City Solicitor Sherry appeared for the state. Officer Jones testified that Mr. Holmes was driving his car at the rate of thirty-five miles an hour when he stopped him. When part of the evidence had been submitted Mr. Holmes asked to have the case continued as he wanted to settle the matter. In answer to the court, Solicitor Sherry said that the state would be satisfied to nolle prosequi this case providing Mr. Holmes would pay the fine of $25.00 which was suspended in July, when he was in court on a similar charge.

The court then ordered the old case brought forward and the fine of $25.00 was put into effect. The case of this morning was then nolle prosequi. Mr. Holmes paid the fine and departed. —Dated Democrat.

FIRE IN COAL BUNKER OF TORPEDO BOAT DIXIE

Fire quarters sounded on the flagship Dixie of the Atlantic torpedo fleet last night caused some excitement. In the starboard aft bunker of 100 tons of coal. After a brisk fight the fire was put out before it had done much damage and though a close watch was kept on the powder magazine it was stated that the temperature did not rise in any of them. The fire is believed to have started from spontaneous combustion as the coal in the bunker had been there for three months. The Dixie is captained by Captain John K. Robinson.

Mrs. Jazzie W. (Moran) Brooks, a native of this city who with her daughter, Miss Blanche, concluded their residence in Somerville, Mass., to heretofore reside in Los Angeles, Cal., are now in Spokane, Washington. They remain there for a few days and then go on to the Golden State, and expect to meet Capt. Charles F. Shidinger in Los Angeles about September 7. The Yellowstone Park was a centre of great interest to Mrs. Brooks and daughter.

UNIQUE ROPE BRIDGE

Crude Device Is Used to Cross Tibet Stream.

Rivers Are So Wide and the Walls So Precipitous That It Is Impossible to Find Foundations for Structures.

Lhessa, Tibet.—One of the most fascinating things met with in Tibet is the single-rope bridge—fascinating, and yet at first sight rather alarming. To shoot swiftly across a thundering river suspended many feet in the air by two leather thongs from a short wooden slider which hums over the knotted surface of a rope made of twisted strands of bamboo, seems more precarious than it really is, and after the first journey one thoroughly enjoys the experience. Whoever the ingenious native was who first suggested this mode of crossing a river—be it probably came from the jungles of Assam and had seen monkeys crossing the river there by means of growing creepers—there is no doubt that he found the one method which is applicable to the big rivers, exaggerated mountain torrents, of eastern Tibet and far western China. The obvious way for natives to cross a river is by canoe, but, unfortunately, neither the Salween nor the Mekong, big as they are, are navigable even for canoes in Tibet. The single-way rope bridge overcomes every difficulty. Two small platforms are made, one on either side of the river, one high up, the other 20 or 30 feet lower down; stout posts are driven into the rock and the bamboo rope is slung across from post to post, and tightened so that it slopes steeply from one bank to the other. The slider consists of a half-cylinder of wood, about three inches in diameter, having two slots cut in its upper surface, one at either end, through which pass the leather thongs; to these thongs the man, baggage or animal is tied, so that he hangs just beneath the rope, and, being pushed off the platform, the slider carries him, safely over the river. It will be seen, therefore, that two ropes are necessary at each crossing, one for going each way. The advantages of such a system are obvious. The rope is cheap to make and the materials are ready to hand; it is quickly put in place and, though it will not stand the wear and tear of constant use for very long, it can be replaced in a few hours. It can be suspended so high above the river that it is completely out of reach of summer floods, but very often it is only a few feet above the water at its lowest point, and such ropes are under water and impassable during the summer. On the other hand, I have seen ropes as much as a hundred feet above the river; they look rather alarming, but, as a matter of fact, it would make no difference whether one fell one hundred feet or five feet into such a river as the Mekong in Tibet. After a few weeks' use the rope begins to sag at the lower end and may require tightening up, especially if animals are being slung across; a man can pull himself up the last few feet, hand over hand, or haul up a box which has got stuck, but an animal is helpless unless he lands right on the opposite bank. Hundreds of these single-way rope bridges are in use on the Mekong and Salween rivers alone, and they occur a long way east of this on the La-lung and Li-tang rivers, and many others. But I have never seen one on the Yangtze, which is too big a river—P. Kingdom Ward, in Country Life.

NEW EDUCATION OF TARTAR

Phonetic System of Teaching Reading and Writing Introduced Among Indian Mohammedans.

Constantinople.—Ishmail Bek Gasprinsky, the editor of the Terjuman, the oldest Tartar newspaper in Russia, and the pioneer of the modern Tartar educational movement, widely known outside Russia as having initiated about five years ago a movement for convening a general congress of Mohammedans to discuss the causes of the backwardness of Mohammedan peoples, has returned from Bombay, where he went to open a modern elementary school which should serve to introduce among Indian Mohammedans the phonetic system of teaching children to read and write. The importance of this step is not obvious at first sight, but the adoption of the phonetic system means the adoption of new principles of instruction generally. It means breaking with the traditional Mohammedan scholastic system. And for this reason the "new method," as it is called, has become among Russian Mohammedans a watchword of reform and is vigorously opposed by the adherents of the old school.

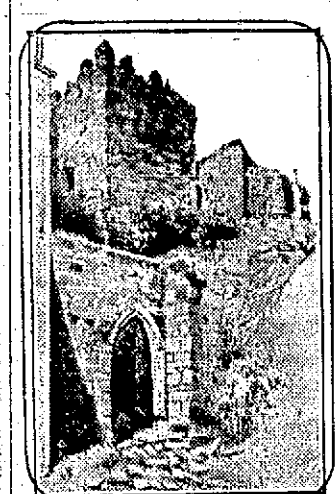

In its essence the "new method" means that children, instead of being taught to read by spelling out the names of the letters of the Arabic alphabet which is used by all Mohammedans, are taught at once to associate letters with sounds and to form them into syllables. M. Gasprinsky has discovered by long experience in Russia that by the new system an enormous amount of time is saved. The average child can by its means learn to read intelligently in 40 days, whereas under the old system six months or a year were necessary, and then the result was unsatisfactory. The mullahs who have adopted the new system in the Crimea have found themselves compelled to fill in the time saved by giving instruction in other subjects, such as geography and hygiene, otherwise the period of instruction would have been so short that their slender income from the village schools—would have grown more slender still.

The new system has already been adopted at the Normal School for Teachers, established at Constantinople, after the constitution, and the teachers who are now being trained will gradually introduce it in elementary schools all over the country.

DONJON OF VINCENNES OPEN

Famous Twelfth Century Castle Is Now Ready for Tourists.

Paris.—Through the efforts of Capt. de Fossa, the famous donjon, or keep of the Chateau de Vincennes, which since Napoleon's time had been used for the storing of military supplies, has been thrown open to the public. The donjon is over 160 feet in height, and from its summit an excellent view of the surrounding country can be obtained. The walls are 10 feet thick and there is a winding staircase of 327 steps. There are five stories, and on clearing out the place 60,000 muskets of the First Empire were found on the first floor, while above were 100,000 sabres, together with a quantity of saddles and bridles of the same period.

All these things have now been replaced by contemporary relics illustrating the history of the tower during 700 years. There is also a display showing the famous events in which the structure played a part and the equally famous prisoners confined behind its massive walls.

As far back as 1164, writes Capt. de Fossa, in a pamphlet he has prepared on the subject, Louis VII. conceived the project of building a royal residence at Vincennes, in the wood of which the earlier monarchs often hunted. Philippe Auguste, and his successors improved and enlarged the chateau, in which many of them dwelt. It was later utilized as a state prison, and in 1740 the porcelain factory which was removed to Sevres ten years later was established there. Then the edifice became the quarters of a military school for a brief period, and afterward a manufactory of arms.

In 1788, at the time of the French Revolution, Vincennes was ranged among the royal chateaux which were to be sold, but did not find a purchaser. Then came Napoleon, who turned the historic castle into a military storehouse. Among the monarchs who have died there were Louis VII., Philippe V., and Charles IV., and also Henry V. of England.

MAN GETS LONG LOST $10

Money in Hands of New York Police Chief Since October 11 Is Restored to Owner.

New York.—A ten dollar bill lost on Broadway October 11 is now in the hands of the owner, after having been for eight months in the hands of Police Commissioner Waldo. More than 1,000 persons applied to the commissioner for the money, but it remained for John P. J. Sheehan of Newark, N. J., to make the successful claim.

The bill was turned over to a truffle policeman October 11 by William Fleuger of Berlin, Germany, who said that the bill had blown into his face at Forty-second street and Broadway. Sheehan explained that the money was blown from his hand by a gust of wind. He had witnesses to prove his claim.

Pittsburg, Pa.—All sorts of games of chance have been put under the law's watchful eye here. County detectives have confiscated hundreds of slot machines, brought them to the courthouse and broken them with an ax. IN THE PHILIPPINES

New Orleans Girl Spends Several Months on Islands.

Writes of Her Trip on a Coastwise Boat and the Strange Menu Served to the Party in Picturesque Native Town.

Manila, P. I.—"We were invited to spend several weeks in this province, and as it was likely to prove a novel experience, we came," says Mrs. Marcia Dorothy Ryar, a New Orleans girl who spent several months in the Philippines.

"We took the coastwise boat, which below stairs was crammed with natives, ponies, carabao, vegetables, the inevitable fighting cocks (a native neglects his family, but never his game cock), fish, small and babies.

"On the upper deck, however, beneath an awning, we were comfortable enough in steamer chairs.

"That evening we reached a native town, very odd with its native straw huts on stilts, and its crazy streets with cats, strings of fish and children. Also cocks and cockpits—and the jungle behind it all.

"There a banca, a clumsy, canoe-shaped native boat, decidedly top-heavy and uncomfortable, met us. It was paddled expertly by natives, picturesque in their scanty attire, and wearing at their belts knives quite large enough to make me shudder. We arrived at the station to see a magnificent sunset and eat a unique dinner. On the menu were of course many familiar dishes, but besides there were fried bananas sliced crosswise, thin and crisp, tasting like eggplant, a cousin to the cucumber, roasted, a salad made from coconut buds with mayonnaise. I did not like it at all—rice like popcorn, bamboo shoots, chicken with curry and a jelly made from flowers, which tasted like currants, also a drink of coconut milk, which is awful.

"The house is a darling. It is large, native in style, of straw and bamboo floors, large rooms, sliding partitions and shower bath in each room. Behind is the jungle, before a fine stretch of lawn, a beach and the water.

"That evening we sat on the wide gallery, in the usual steamer chairs, and listened to the plaintive native music from the barrio, where a dance was in full swing.

"Our host has a charming, if lonely existence. There are fifty native men in the barrio, whom he oversees at their work. His household arrangements are perfect, but it takes four boys and a cook to keep them so. It seems so funny to see a boy in pink knee pants, no shirt, but a dagger in his belt, serving chocolate, and excellent chocolate at that.

"The place is beautifully laid out; the irrigation ditches are crossed by pretty bamboo bridges, all things lending themselves to the general effect. I saw coffee, bananas and pine-apples growing for the first time, the latter a beautiful red while growing. You should see the wonderful orchids and ferns, some with fronds twelve feet long.

BAND PLAYS AS DOG DINES

Canine Guest of Honor at Banquet Celebrates Birthday and Devours His Share of Feast.

Hamilton, Ohio.—New York's four hundred have had their monkey dinners; other swell sets have their innovations along that line, but this town bears the honor of giving a dog a real live banquet and concert to commemorate the anniversary of his birth.

The affair was given by Louis F. Morner, and the guest of honor was his dog, "Major," who, seated at the head of the table, was admitted during the many courses by a host of his owner's friends. The city band gave a concert of several select numbers.

"Major," unconscious of the honor that was being bestowed upon him, devoured his share of the viands and looked about for more.

CONCORD LETTER

Concord, Aug. 19.—During the last two days of registration for the primaries of September, 3 candidates declared themselves in record breaking numbers so that on summing up the results the secretary of state finds a greater number of names to be printed on the official ballots than was the case when the direct primary law had its first trial two years ago.

This does not apply to the officers which head the tickets, however, for that able and sincere gentleman, Franklin Worcester of Hollis, on the Republican side, and Samuel D. Parker of Rochester, Democrat and legislative leader, are unopposed, so far as nomination in the primary goes.

The result of the registrations makes it sure, also that the Republican candidates for Congress will be the present Representatives at Washington, Cyrus A. Sulloway of Manchester and Frank D. Currier of Caggan; and that Mr. Sulloway will be opposed, as in 1910, by former Mayor Eugene E. Reed of Manchester. Mr. Currier, however will have a new opponent, Henry H. Metcalf of Concord, the political veteran, retiring in favor of the younger and more radical Raymond B. Stevens of Londonduff.

In regard to these three offices the interesting question now is what the Roosevelt party will do in regard to naming third candidates for them or endorsing the Democrats, as some hopeful members of the latter party have suggested that they might do.

The meeting of the Republican state committee, which has been called for Thursday evening of this week in this city, will also be an interesting occasion, from the information it probably will give as to the number of desertions in the Roosevelt ranks from among the party leaders who compose the committees.

For the governor's council the Democrats have one candidate, but no more, in each district, while for the Republican nomination there are three candidates in the first district and two in each of the others.

For the state senate the Republicans made no nomination in one of the Manchester districts, and the Democrats none in the fourth, or Belknap county district. In 20 districts, there are for from two to four candidates for the Republican nomination and in eight districts the Democrats are hopeful enough to engage in competition for their party nomination. In 14 districts the candidates for the Republican nomination include men of distinctly Progressive records and tendencies.

About the liveliest contests at the primaries seem likely to be for nominations for county offices. This is especially true here in Merrimack county where there is more than one Republican aspirant for most of the places on the ticket. The decision of John P. Nutter, register of probate for 36 years, not to be a candidate for another term, has brought three young Republican hustlers into the field, who are making a vigorous canvass. They are Eugene Keeler, well known newspaper man, who was a prominent member of the legislature of 1911; Nath W. Hobbs, lawyer of this city, Yale man and grandson of Mrs. Armenia White; and Joseph A. Dunigan, also a lawyer of this city, though his legal residence is in Newbury, which town he represented in the recent constitutional convention. The Democrats also have competition for the same office, their candidates being Fred Myron Colby, the Warner literary man, and George W. Phillips, a prominent drifter of West Concord.

Those who are interested in various propositions to come before the next legislature, including the Grand Trunk charter (if that railroad decides to go direct to the general court, instead of taking the regular channel of the supreme court and the public service commission) are scanning closely the list of candidates for the state senate and house of representatives.

President Charles S. Mellen of the New Haven and Boston & Maine systems is not allowing the New Hampshire situation to interfere with his vacation plans, however, and has started with a party of friends on a long trip into the Far West, including the Yellowstone Park and other points of interest. He seems to be content to leave the local interests of his road in the able hands of Edgar J. Rich, general counsel, who has had charge of the railroad rate questions in this state and who gained popular respect and confidence by his conduct of the Boston & Maine's affairs before the legislature of 1911. Mr. Rich is continuing his campaign of publicity by newspaper communication in which he asks election to the coming legislature of men unpledged and of open mind as to the railroad problems that impend.

The surprise of the season for Concord folks came in the Washington dispatch of last week that announced the resignation of George H. Moses, editor of the Monitor and Statesman, as minister of the United States to Greece and Montenegro. While his local friends knew that he had received some flattering offers to leave the government service for other branches of endeavor they were not aware that he had it in mind to accept any of them, while it is known here that his success as a diplomat has been highly appreciated by the state department at Washington.

British Yacht to Take British Scientists to Easter Island.

Lonely Dot of Land, Two Thousand Miles From South American Continent, Believed to Have Been a Continent at One Time.

London.—The Mana, a motor auxiliary yacht just launched at White-stable, is to carry on expedition to the South seas to investigate the origin of the gigantic prehistoric remains of Easter Island.

This island, the most easterly of the Polynesian group, is a lonely dot of land 45 miles in area, 2,000 miles from the South American coast. Facing the sea on the island are enormous platforms made of uncut stones, some of which weigh five tons. Some of the sea walls are 30 feet high and 200 feet long.

There is no metal on the island, and the only tool found was a prehistoric chisel, with which it would seem impossible to execute such colossal works. Moreover, the island, with its scanty water supply, could not have supported enough people to drag the figures from the quarry where they were made to the platforms. Some of the statues weigh 250 tons.

There is every evidence that some great calamity overtook the island and its inhabitants, for most of the figures are unfinished, some of them never even having been removed from the quarry. A popular theory is that Easter Island is the sole remains of a continent which was overwhelmed by the sea after a great seismic disturbance.

The Mana expedition, led by W. Scoresby Routledge and accompanied by geologists and other scientists from the British museum, will make excavations in an effort to solve the mystery.

CURIOUS HOUSES IN CHINA

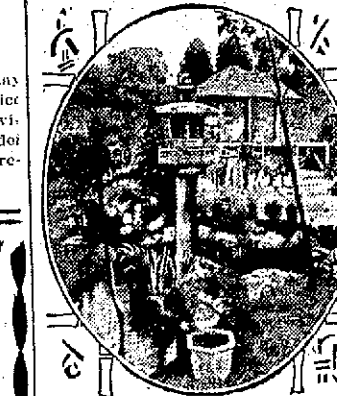

Celestials Build Their Homes or Palaces Wall-within-Wall—All Have Beautiful Gardens.

Peking, China.—It is difficult for the occidental mind to picture the wall-within-wall life of a Chinese home. Down a narrow lane one passes between two walls, behind which may be hovels or palaces, there is no telling which, since the one-story roofs beyond are invisible, says a writer in the Century Magazine.

One pulls a string at a gateway, the address of some family of high degree. A servant appears, leads through another gateway, a flowery courtyard, a passageway, perhaps an other courtyard, a little room or two and finally into a reception room with its carved wood and wainscoting and furniture, its porcelains and jades and brasses, its blue-and-green-and-gold ceiling and its window pattern of paper panes.

Here the hostess appears, offers her occidental guest tea or champagne, or both, with cakes and candied fruit or lotus buds. Then she may lead one through other courtyards, all with the usual one-story rooms around them, and into her secluded garden of rocks and pools, of pretty paths and bridges, of clustering trees and flowers.

In such a palace as this each courtyard, with its surrounding rooms, may be the special home of one of the sons and his wife and children; but somewhere in the maze of walls, under one of the low tiled roofs, is the common dining room, with the kitchen beyond. Here the men of the family eat together, twice a day, and afterward the women and children. And somewhere also there is a central family hall, with the ancestral tablets, which must have their tribute of incense at proper seasons. These are held in such reverence that no foot may pass above them, and therefore two-story dwellings are unknown in regions uncontaminated by foreign influence.

FAMOUS COMPOSER AT THE MOUNTAINS

J. Rodewaldt, Lampe, the well known composer, has been looking forward to a three weeks vacation in the White Mountains, and since January has been assembling a fishing outfit, outfitting anything ever possessed by himself or any other disciple of Isaac Walton. He also had the privilege of fishing in the private lake of the White Mountain Fishing Club, recorded him by that select coterie of amateur fishermen. Last Saturday he hid himself away from the Renick arranging studios, leaving the same in charge of Mr. Colby, and after a long and tedious journey arrived at the club house on Sunday morning, just in time to see a large load of fish being taken away by a farmer for fertilizing purposes. He learned from the farmer that the lake had been drained on Friday to rid it of fungus plants which had been poisoning the fish.

Anyone desiring a first class fishing outfit can obtain same, express prepaid by writing to J. Rodewaldt Lampe, care of Jerome H. Renick, 121 West 41st street, New York.

ITEMS OF INTEREST TO NAVY YARD EMPLOYEES

Want the Yard Open Sunday
Representative Vane has introduced a resolution asking that visitors be permitted to the Philadelphia yard on Sunday. The resolution is as follows:

That the secretary of the navy be and he is hereby authorized and directed to open the Philadelphia navy yard for the admission of visitors on Sundays subject to such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the protection of the property of the United States, and for the preservation of peace.

No Place for the Officers

The naval appropriation bill provides for the erection of quarters for the commanding officer at the naval prison at Portsmouth, N. H.
An officer of the grade of either a captain or a rear admiral commands the naval prison. This officer is likewise commander of the yard, the prison being about three quarters of a mile from the yard proper. There are no accommodations there at the present time for the commanding officer. One of the recent officers in command was a bachelor and he had a cot in his office and slept there most of the time. His home was in Portsmouth two and a half miles away but he found it necessary to stay at the prison at night.

Of course the assignment of a married officer to that post at the present time would necessitate his living in Portsmouth. The limit of cost placed on this house is based on the cost of houses for army officers of like rank. Army and Navy Register.

Visiting in the South

Naval constructor W. P. Robert is passing a furlough at Richmond, Va., constructor Bissett is in charge of the Hull division during his absence.

stationed at this yard is passing a

It is about time a citizens movement was started to clean up certain sections in this city before it is too late. Things are becoming pretty thoroughly demoralized, and the city's future is threatened. The Herald does not wish to appear as an alarmist but it is certainly time for action. It is not necessary to particu-
